

Need a kitchen counter built out of old shipping crates? Call on the Soldiers of Fire Control Platoon

Story by Fire Control Platoon, B Battery, 3-2nd ADA

Sgts. Thomas Kramer and Chad Puterbaugh were busy creating and developing computer programs to make tactical operations easier for all crews. Many of their developments have been adopted by battalion.

The Fire Control Platoon of B Battery 3rd Battalion 2nd Air Defense Artillery has many talented Soldiers within their ranks. Many of these Soldiers brought additional skills with them when they joined the Army.

The fire control platoon has skilled carpenters, wood workers, mechanics, electricians and computer programmers. After arriving in Gaziantep, Turkey, in support of their NATO mission, the fire control platoon immediately began building and creating items to make life easier for everyone.

From the building gear stands and shelving to a pull up bar, the talent and creativity is overwhelming.

Spc Edwin Rodriguez is one of these multi-skilled Soldiers. On his down time, he can be found hard at work making and crafting items for his section that benefit their greater good. The section is now the proud owner of a kitchen, coffee table, entertainment stand and gear stand.

As far as computer programmers go,
