

6-52 ADA AND 20TH FIGHTER WING WORK ON PARTNERSHIP

Article and photos by Spc. Issac Castleberry, 6-52 ADA Public Affairs

SUWON AIR BASE – The 20th Fighter Wing Commander, Brig. Gen. Geun Yong Choi, visited Alpha Battery, 6th Battalion, 52nd Air Defense Artillery (6-52 ADA) Regiment for a demonstration of their air and missile defense (AMD) capabilities and training techniques during the unit's field training exercise (FTX) on 4 June 2013.

Choi worked as the United States Forces Korea chief of planning before taking command of the 20th

Fighter Wing. Graciously welcoming the unit, Choi expressed his support to the unit and the mission they perform.

"[The] 20th Fighter Wing appreciates your service and all you are doing for us," said Choi. Then, he offered a helping hand in order to support the air defenders' mission.

Capt. Kendrick Vaughn, commander of Alpha Battery (A/6-52 ADA), showed Choi around their dual field sites while he briefed each individual component of air defense equipment and their capabilities to defend assets.

"Suwon is very small so we don't get to do training all the time," said Vaughn. "When we're in the field all we do is train, train, and train. "So I love it and the Soldiers love it as well.

Commander of Alpha Battery, 6th Battalion, 52nd Air Defense Artillery (A/6-52 ADA) Regiment, Capt. Kendrick Vaughn, briefs Brig. Gen. Geun Yong Choi and his staff on the many capabilities of Patriot equipment during a field training exercise (FTX) on 4 June 2013.

