

Employees ensure garrison excellence

Did you know that installation management is committed to delivering the best care, support and services for Soldiers, families and civilians?

In support of the Installation Management Command's Campaign Plan, Line of Effort No. 2 "Soldier, Family, and Civilian Well-being," the Fort Sill Garrison is improving the quality of life through standardized programs and services. The garrison is also committed to excellence in youth services and child care, facilities and programs that support recreation, leisure, travel and single Soldiers, state and community support and relationships, and well-being programs and services that meet Soldier, family and civilian needs throughout the entire deployment cycle.

One of our new programs to better support our Soldiers, families, and civilians is the Extra Mile program. Garrison employees and their supervisors pledge to go the extra mile for their customers, every day and every time. Garrison employees own their jobs, maintain a positive attitude, care about their customers and strive to provide exceptional service. They are motivated, show integrity, loyalty and excellence. It's the garrison employees and the customers they serve who make Fort Sill a community of excellence.

The program's goal is to improve our efforts to furnish the best care, support and services for our Soldiers, families and civilians. Employees that go the extra mile will be recognized with a special award during our quarterly award ceremonies.

My garrison directors will use customer feedback of any kind, as well as peer nominations and supervisor recommendations to submit their "extra miler" of the quarter. Please help us by letting us know of any outstanding employees that have gone the extra mile for you; you can use ICE, my Tell-the-GC hotline or any other form of feedback.
